Protection of heritage buildings

†2286. SHRI MAHENDRA SAHNI: Will the Minister of CULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that many heritage buildings have lost their historical importance due to rapid development of different cities which is taking place in the country;

(b) if so, the details of the important heritage buildings identified in different States by the Central Government; and

(c) the steps taken/proposed to be taken by the Central Government to protect these heritage buildings?

THE MINISTER OF CULTURE (SHRIMATI AMBIKA SONI): (a) and (b) Due to a variety of factors like rapid urbanization, construction of multistoreyed residential and commercial buildings, implementation of development projects etc., thirty five protected monuments/sites are not traceable in the country and the details (State-wise) are given in Statement. (See below)

(c) In 1992, Archaeological Survey of India has issued a notification declaring areas upto 100 metres from the protected limits of monuments of national importance as prohibited areas where all construction and mining activities are banned. Another 200 metres beyond this limit had been declared as regulated area where construction/mining activity is permitted only in accordance with the terms and conditions of a licence issued by Archaeological Survey of India.

There are 3667 centrally protected monuments/sites of national importance in the country. Archaeological Survey of India maintains and conserves these monuments, besides taking up environmental development and providing tourist friendly amenities subject to the availability of resources. Archaeological Survey of India has also deployed watch and ward staff for their protection in addition to the deployment of private Security Guards, State Police and Home Guards and CISF in selected cases.
